Task -1

a. Since John Doe has a considerable amount of capital and time to spend on getting the required outcome of his choice, using a native framework specific to iOS and Android will be good.

b. React native is a cross platform development framework.
The reason behind not choosing a cross-platform framework is because john doe has time and money to spare, using that he can build a better user experience for his customers.

c. Overall user experience on a native application is better. It's easier to promote on the app stores.

d. Customers should be able to download and listen to music offline.

e. Spotify, Apple Music

- Spotify music has group sessions where friends can join and listen together.
- Apple music's UI is better than spotify.
